The New Moon in Pisces is lovely, just lovely... a time to feel, muse, and nurture your mystical nature. It is conjunct Neptune and Venus, sextile Pluto making for a powerful, yet sublime lunar month.

Known as the Sugar Moon, this is a time for celebrating friendships, near and far, feeling connections and appreciating what is going right in the world.

Use the hints and tips below to inspire your intentions for the next 28 days. Remember, the desires that bring a smile are your most authentic. Imagine them!

Sign by Sign Scopes

ARIES: The Pisces New Moon puts four planets in your 12th house of the Muse, creative inspirations and inner wisdom. If you slow down, just a bit, you can gain from this realm, healing old wounds, laying to rest any secrets or lies, finding an inner peace that radiates out into everything you do. However you can engage your right brain will bring benefits, as will more sleep, more stillness, more repose. Not exactly what the firecracker Aries wants, but it is the truth. Go with it...

TAURUS: Are you ready to amp your income streams? What self-respecting Earth sign would say no? Not you, but your focus this month is twofold – skill/financial development and the warmth and glow of friendships. If you can combine both – learn a new art from from a friend, collaborate in a new business with a like-minded other, or spend some bonus money on your peeps in the form of a dinner, or book club or sport meet – you name it – then all the better. The idea is to bask in the love of companions, near and far, while your life moves toward greater security and support. What's not to love?

GEMINI: I hope you are ready to break through the glass ceiling on your career, mission, profession because the opportunities are greater now than they have been in a long, long time. What you have been working toward, hoping for, intending and visioning is manifesting. Now. Right on the spot. Between this New Moon stellium in your career sector and Mars into Gemini for the first time in two years, it's a whole new ballgame. Batter up!

CANCER: This sweet and sugary New Moon is designed to bring you creative inspiration, possibly from overseas or a foreign resource. In the olden days, before Covid 19, this lunation would have you on an international flight, expanding your horizons literally. But for now, it may still support you with surprising online connections, new and improved study arrangements or classes, higher standing in your field and a brighter outlook on your prospects for the future. Watch the sun rise and/or set as much as possible now. It's a symbol of glorious things to come.

LEO The Lion shines golden in the month of March and early April, even though there are few planets in Fire to begin with. Think of this as a time when your creative expertise is sought after, when you are paid well for your skills and talents, and where projects, especially collaborations receive more attention than you ever imagined. There could be an increase in finances from money owned you, grants, funding, royalties or commissions. Confidence is up as you say YES! The only thing required here is emotional honesty. Be ready.

VIRGO: There is much joy and celebration to be had on this New Moon as it lights up your house of ‘other people’, your business partners, artistic collaborators, friends and significant others. Expect relationships to rise, showing their very best side, offering you a chance to connect with more love, truth and integrity than you have yet known. Think of it as a spiritual union as well as a mental and physical one. There is magic in the air and what you brainstorm together has wings, flying you to nirvana!

LIBRA: I hope you are ready for fulfillment, lovely Libra, because this lunar cycle, especially the full moon at the end of March, has your name written all over it. If you have been struggling with body image, health or daily work, be ready to shift gears. There is a breakthrough now that enables you to experience more inner freedom, well-being, strength and grace, a combination you haven’t quite felt for some time. Think of this as a renaissance, one that brightens your spirit and lifts the load. A truly blessed time.

SCORPIO: Creativity sprouts from every aspect of your being during this lunation, giving you a chance to expand on so many levels. If you are an artist, or work in a creative field, consider yourself doubly blessed. Think allure and attraction. That’s right. What you have, everyone wants and all you have to do to bring the joy and abundance is step up, and say YES. Whatever you’ve been hedging, taking a long time to mull over, make that choice now. This is your chance to bring more connection into your life, be it accolades, romance or advances. Just say YES.

SAGITTARIUS: With this New Moon, abundance rises up from all four corners of your life – home/family, career/calling, Self and partnerships. You are literally on fire, building more from the end of March to mid-April (with Venus in Aries) but you'll feel it now too, for sure. The idea is to find ways (set intentions) that support these four pillars of life – security and emotional stability in the home AND advancement and fulfillment in your career. A strong sense of Self-sufficiency AND an open and honest connection with partners. Bring the opposites together in your mind and all else will follow.

CAPRICORN: This New Moon's message is simple: Your voice will be heard. Take this to mean you will be noticed. You will make a difference. Your intentions will have an impact. The realm of community and communication is lit up for you, giving you a virtual soap box and megaphone. Use these tools wisely as they have long-reaching effects. It is possible that something you've been working on for some time is about to make headway in the world, and bring you tangible results. Make sure, under your shower of gold, that you pause to appreciate those who helped along the way.

AQUARIUS: This Luration is about to remind you what an amazing year it is, this time of Jupiter/Saturn in Aquarius. Ideas hoped for, intentions set free, and promises glimpses are all set to rally around you, bringing wild opportunities. Think of ways this powerful time can enhance your skills and talents, expand your revenue and bring you closer to your dreams come true. Your job, remember, isn't to figure out the HOW; it is to focus on the results you are after. So first, know yourself. Know what you want. And then, be grateful as it is surely on its way!

PISCES: Welcome the cornucopia. Usually this image is reserved for the sign it was named for, Capricorn and the golden age of Saturn, but it's all yours this month! Once a year, you have your own, personal new moon occur (in the days before or following your birthday) that fuels the upcoming twelve months, and this one is no different. It just happens to be a lot better! The lineup in your house of Self/Style/Magnetism is so strong, and so magical, you can literally manifest what you want, right out of thin air. Be ready to have your clear and true intentions met with a dazzling reality. It's happening, and then some! Happy Birthday Pisces!
