

SHENG XIAO YEAR OF THE WATER TIGER

Sheng Xiao Zodiac

It all begins with the New Moon @12° Aquarius!

LUNAR NEW YEAR OF THE WATER TIGER

LA – Jan 31 – 9:46 pm

NY – Feb 1 – 12:46 am

LON – Feb 1 – 5:46 am

SYD – Feb 1 – 4:46 pm

Archives from 2021 – 2022

Happy New Year of the Water Tiger

This New Moon is full of pizazz! After all, it is the Lunar New Year of the Tiger, shifting the vibe for 12 months to come. You'll want to roar!

This is the holiday known in the past as Chinese New Year, celebrated by billions of people around the world. So it's not just in China, (Spring Festival) but in Korea (Seollal), Vietnam (Tết) and Tibet (Losar) as well as in communities all over the globe.

Traditionally, it's a time for family gathering, horoscopes, delicious food, and the giving and receiving of red envelopes filled with well-wishes and money. We can say, that spirits are high!

And the Astro agrees.

Note there is still a powerful EARTHY trend as Saturn ruler of Capricorn & Aquarius continues to dominate the New Moon in Aquarius chart. Even Mercury, though still RETROGRADE for a few more days, will yield an earthy influence. It's strong, practical, ambitious, and, like the Tiger, powerful.

Yet in the face of all that stability, Uranus, the trickster, ignites the New Moon, ready to tip the apple cart if it senses a rut or stagnation.

Be ready to BLESS any and all disruptions as that is what they are, blessings.

This Month, the Scopes focus on Sheng Xiao (aka the Chinese Zodiac) so check your sign with this calculator (if you aren't sure what it is or are born in Jan/Feb) and then read my scopes to note how you might set the best intentions for the Lunar New Year of the Tiger!

The Water Tiger only occurs once every 60 years, so let's enjoy it to the max!

And, if you are new to the Bare Bones Scopes, join my Daily Divination for short hints and insights along the way.

xxKim

Sign by Sign Lunar New Year of the Tiger Scopes

Rat: The New Year of the Tiger puts emphasis on your inner rebel, but it may not be as simple as starting a revolution at home, work or play. You will need to choose your playing fields wisely, and also tune in to what you are really pushing back against. Are you resisting what others want of you at the expense of your own personal goals?

Think about what YOU want in life and strike out in that direction. It may be the opposite of where you are headed now, or along parallel lines. You decide, experiment, but the more intentions you set to live your TRUE core values, the better.

The Shui – Check your money vibration to be sure you are allowing all that you earn and deserve. April sets things in motion. Be ready. New or renewed love is on the horizon. Be sure you don't let blocks from the past keep you from deeply rewarding connections. Soul Attunement may be a surprising support this year.

Ox: The New Year of the Tiger brings with it a festive, playful vibe that could have you sprinting after all the fresh opportunities. So much flows your way, it's hard to pick and choose. But this is the year to Choose Your Favorite Vibe, cherry-picking those offers be they creative, business or romantic. Start setting intentions now for the things you'd like to change or see blossom.

Think about the infinite possibilities, because there is no sense being limited by what you feel is 'possible'. Go for the upgraded intention that makes things Even Better!

The Shui – Networking brings it all! Romance can take you by surprise, especially in May and September. Look then as well for increased money flow, if that's been on your list of desires. Try Soul Attunement – it may be a strong support this year.

TIGER: The New Year of the Tiger is your once every twelve-year specials, no matter what element you are. Think back twelve years ago, to the last Tiger year, and note how far you have come. It's going to seem even more eventful, as the year unfolds. All you have to do is reap the Extra Perks for Tuning In!

Consider carefully what you want to experience and then set intentions that pave the way. You have opportunities to learn from a past relationship (that could resurface) and then move onward and upward in spectacular ways.

The Shui – Look to October for a time of promotions and accolades on the work front, with earlier months in the year being pegged for home repair and relationship upgrades. Health issues find resolutions and you vibe triumphant. Soul Attunement may be an excellent support this year.

RABBIT: The New Year of the Tiger is your year of pre-paving, planning and aligning. Next year, ie. most of 2023, will be huge, so get all your bunnies in a row while you can. That means focusing on the four main pillars of life – Self, relationship, calling, home. There will be plenty of time with friends, new and old, to help you along the way.

Think of the practicalities, like money and security, like-minded others, what brings you joy in your work-a-day life, and what you have to offer. Amping up your receiving skills this year is vital!

The Shui – Support is all around you when you need it most, especially for making big decisions in April and October. Tune into your body. Listen to internal needs for diet and exercise. Health will flourish when you respect the vessel! Consider Soul Attunement for additional support.

DRAGON: The New Year of the Tiger lights up your creative heart bringing all kinds of fresh ideas to the table. Be they culinary delights, remodeling, music, performing arts, craft, dance or lit, you are walking into one of your most productive years. Consider the art of brainstorming as collaborations could flourish. Remember, as you see it, so shall you live it! Hint: begin intentions with Liking it Here.

Consider the give and take required to work with others, and then decide which suits you the most. Chances are good you will follow both paths, a joint effort or collaboration and a solo exploration.

The Shui – The spotlight is on you all year so walk out the door camera ready. Amp up fitness and self-care, esp in November. It's very busy then. Try Soul Attunement for additional support.

SNAKE: The New Year of the Tiger for you is the year of ‘happy in love’ where you delight in romantic ventures and creative visions. If there is a chance you might have some blocks or hesitation around this topic, consider the art of Saying it So. It can change things on a dime.

Think of this year as an opportunity to re-set all your intentions at once. Make a list by first pondering your core values and then putting your heart and soul into the words you write. It will matter so much!

The Shui – Risks taken in March and April could have big rewards by the end of the year. Just note – never venture more than you are happy to lose! One way to align might be the meditation process of Soul Attunement.

HORSE: The New Year of the Tiger brings good news, the first being happy days ahead in the home and family department. If you’re struggling with the actual house or living situation, relatives or loved ones, and any financial hoo-ha embedded in such circumstances, relax. This is the year to set intentions that will change all that.

Think of this year as one of hidden gems and discoveries. There might be assets or real estate you will benefit from that you didn't even know existed, and a full upgrade via work or career. Just note that if things are challenging, fueling (talking about/worrying about) the difficulties won't help. Remember to Tell it Differently, even if it seems 'impossible.'

The Shui – Note that in May-June you could feel your most fickle. Avoid contracts at that time and keep your options open-ended. You are a free spirit, after all. It's as it should be! Soul Attunement may be a surprising support.

GOAT: The New Year of the Tiger brings improvement over last year, which may have had some struggles or challenges. You are on a more authentic path now, and will find it easier to feel your joy and passion. A family member or close friend helps with a contract or deal that brightens everything. Keep tuning in to what you really want, and set those powerful intentions there.

Think of this year as a proving ground, where you set up your own, inner obstacle course to train and strengthen. There will be dynamics up and down, and they will bring golden rewards.

The Shui – Don't be shy about asking for more, physically, emotionally, financially. You'll get a YES! One way to align might be the meditation process of Soul Attunement.

MONKEY: The New Year of the Tiger may not go down in history as the most tranquil year ever, but you will find yourself adapting to all the new situations with grace and ease. Keep an eye out for hidden opportunities, those once in a lifetime offers disguised as tough breaks or detours along the path. You will rise! Someone from the past will help. Trust them.

Think of the Tiger years as breakthroughs, where life picks you up and puts you in a different part of the game board. At first it's a little disorienting, but soon enough you find your footing and make good. Your mantra might be – If You Don't Like it Don't Do It!

The Shui – With all the changes in store, keep the clutter out of the mind and the home. Physical exercise with breath work (yoga? martial arts?) is your friend and if you can't make up your mind, relax. Soul Attunement may be a surprising support.

ROOSTER: The New Year of the Tiger may bring a few colicky-clacks along the yellow brick road, but you have wings! You will soar above, turning every challenge into a blessing. Expect to be a money magnet this year, but also note there could be more expenses or responsibilities on the outgo. More mouths to feed?

Think of setting intentions of authentic abundance, surrounding yourself with the love and excitement you truly desire. Let go of the out-lived path and jump tracks to one that fully resonates with you.

The Shui – April and May bring massive opportunities to level up career/creative wise. You'll be so glad you readied yourself psychologically for this big change! Tune into family and home. How could things improve there? One way to align might be the meditation process of Soul Attunement.

DOG: The New Year of the Tiger brings you, like it does most Horses and Pigs, a fabulous stage in the Sheng Xiao cycle. If you spend even a little bit of time tuning into yourself and your authentic needs/desires, you will make very clever, life-changing choices. A friend from the past will be instrumental, so make sure you allow space to connect, no matter how busy you are.

Think of this year as more social, more vibrant, more festive. The sooner you get into the party spirit, the better. And then, hone the Three Core Skills that will see your intentions come to life. 1) receiving 2) focusing 3) guidance.

The Shui – Expect a little more chaos in April and again in October, but be sure, financial gains are on the way and they can really help smooth the waters. If emotions run high, try Soul Attunement for additional support. It could surprise you.

PIG: The New Year of the Tiger is expansive for you, widening your circle of friends, opening doors to brilliant opportunities, igniting creative and romantic sparks and generally being a cause for celebration. You will also be giving back this year, helping those less fortunate be they people, flora or fauna. Because of the financial boons, you might want to brush up on your investment alignment.

Think of this year as one to celebrate. There may be an addition to the family or inner circle, a marriage proposal, engagement or wedding celebrations, or maybe the start of a business or artistic venture. Even if it's as humble as planting a new herb garden or replacing a screen, celebrate that! Celebrate everything!

The Shui – The more active you are, the better: swim, dance, train, hike, roll, rock, you name it. Be in nature. Be in your body. All else will follow. Also, Soul Attunement may be a surprising support this year.